ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A computer system handling multiple applications wherein groups of I/O services are accessible through separate application programming interfaces. Each application has multiple application programming

5 interfaces by which to access different families of I/O services, such as I/O devices.